MetLife Resources' Michael De Vivo named 'Five Star Wealth Manager'

Michael P. De Vivo, a financial services representative and financial advisor from MetLife Resources in Connecticut, has been selected as a "2010 Five Star Wealth Manager" by Connecticut Magazine for his commitment to overall client satisfaction. Fewer than 2 percent of wealth managers in the state are chosen to receive the award.

De Vivo has been with MetLife Resources for 18 years and is a Chairman's Council qualifier, focusing on investment management, financial planning and insurance. He is a graduate of Plattsburgh State University and has earned the Certified Financial Planner[®] professional designation.

Connecticut Magazine annually sponsors the Five Star Professional awards program, which is administered by a third-party research firm to recognize top financial service professionals in local and regional communities. Nominees are evaluated by their peers and clients based on personal experience and through different criteria, including customer service, integrity, expertise, communication and reputation.
